April 2015

In November, I had the privilege of attending the first Collegiate Way Conference in Durham, England. Although much of the conference celebrated what our respective Colleges had to offer, there was also great concern over the future of College systems. In England (pace Oxford and Cambridge) the demands by the government for Universities to meet strict productivity and budgetary requirements challenge those with Colleges to justify what appears to be an inefficient and redundant system. Reports were not much more encouraging elsewhere in the world.

I am not convinced by either the productivity or budgetary arguments against Colleges. I believe as you consider the materials in this report, you will not be convinced either. I have often pointed out to the University of Manitoba that their contribution to our budget is 23%. For every dollar they put into the College we give “added-value” of $3. That is a bargain! Everyone at St John’s College remains committed to the education of the whole person through a well-rounded liberal education. At the Emerging Leaders banquet for achievements in 2014, sponsored by the University, fully 20% of the recipients were members of our College. We constitute 3% of the total University population. We must be doing something right!

The report from our Student Council is remarkably terse. What is hard to see here is the engagement and commitment of this group of students. They have completely refinished the student lounge in the lower level. They have struggled with issues over the inappropriate use of their spaces and fairness in distribution of carrels. The list of events in no way reflects the increased participation as more people show up for these events.

Our Fellows continue to win awards and honours quite above their small numbers. What I have been most pleased to see is the increase in Soup and Bread lectures at lunch and the addition of the Brown Bag lunches. Not only are there more events, but also there is a steady regular attendance at these events. We are forming a scholarly community that shares work with each other thereby enriching all of our work. The presence of Dr. Paul Dyck and Dr. Joseph Wiebe as Visiting Scholars has also added a new dimension to College life.

Theology remains suspended. Despite that fact we have expanded theological offering within the Diocese to now include four elements: lectures at St Margaret’s Church, the Wilmot Lectures, Bible and Breakfast and the Engaging Difference course. For each of these we engage with partners taking the College into the “world” and inviting the Diocese to enter into the life of the College.

The richness of our lives, Students, Fellows and Staff, at the College cannot be analyzed through cost accounting methods. I invite all of your to join with our education adventure to make responsible citizens for the twenty-first century.

Christopher G. Trott, Ph.D., Warden and Vice-Chancellor
1. Introduction

The Annual Report of St John’s College provides an official record of the relevant statistics and changes of the College for the year. It captures the growth, achievements, events, and unique character of St John’s. The officer or staff member responsible for an activity has prepared each section and therefore some of the personalities of these individuals are present. In the belief that a great deal of the success of the College is attributable to the personal commitment of these people to St John’s, every effort has been made to maintain this personal perspective while, at the same time, presenting a cohesive chronicle of our activities.

The College continues to reflect the full diversity of the University of Manitoba student body. Many of the students in professional faculties began at the College as Arts or Science undergraduate students and have chosen to continue their association with the College. Bursaries and scholarships, our much coveted carrel study space, the discount at the Daily Bread Café as well as our small size and friendly and knowledgeable staff continue to attract students.

The College continues to provide a home for international students as they arrive in Winnipeg. The warm and welcoming atmosphere of the residence gives new students a firm grounding of life in Canada and prepares them for studies at the University of Manitoba.

b) Scholarships, Bursaries, Prizes and Awards

Thanks to the generous support of donors and the Manitoba Scholarships and Bursaries Initiative, St John’s College has been able to assist College members and graduates in meeting their education costs through a variety of scholarships, bursaries, and prizes. The Convocation program each year gives a full listing of our recipients but here we can only name a few:

c) General Recruitment

The College was present at the following recruiting events: the University of Manitoba Info Days, the University of Manitoba Head Start (formerly Parents’ Program), and the University of Manitoba’s Evening of Excellence.

d) Orientation

The College offered a 24-hour orientation event called “JumpStart”. The format for “JumpStart” changed this year as it moved from a programme the week before classes started to a programmed integrated into the University Orientation sessions. The event was planned and run by College students in consultation with the Dean of Residence and the Registrar. The cost of JumpStart was $25.00 per person and included meals and snacks. The students participated in icebreaker sessions, bowling, a photo safari (scavenger hunt) and an information session. Thirteen students registered for JumpStart this year. Seven student leaders who offered their time and commitment to the new students contributed greatly to the success of JumpStart, which has become the flagship of student-driven events at the College. Many thanks must go to Programmers Martina Sawatzky, Jennifer Page, Stephanie Leong, and the team of leaders for a job very well done.

Student Services
We sold out of our carrels this year and had a waiting list of about forty people. We held get-togethers and competitions in the carrels to bolster the carrel community and relieve stress. We added something called carrel points to encourage people to come out to events.

Events
We held the following events this year, all of which were successful:
- JumpStart
- Beginning of Term BBQ
- Skyzone
- Bowling
- Dinner at Ronald McDonald House
- Lasertopia
- Monthly TV/Movie Days

Other
Iggles Advocate put out four wonderful issues this year.

Our council for next year is about 75% complete.

The 2014 graduation dinner and dance was held at Bergman’s on Lombard on March 22, where Heather Krieger gave the Valedictory Address and Prof. Brenda Cantelo was awarded the Fellow of the Year award. The Student Council did an excellent job of planning and promoting the event. The food was fantastic, as always, and this year’s addition of a photo booth was a lot of fun.

f) Residence

St John’s Residence had a busy year in 2014. There is still a high demand for housing on campus and we were full in the beginning of 2014 as well as the end of the year.
Occupancy
In the beginning of January there were a few empty rooms due to students deciding not to return to school as well as a few disciplinary issues. We were able to fill the rooms and stay on target to fill the residence for the semester. The U of M campus still carried a large waitlist for the beginning of January as well as for September. Over the summer we had a high number of returning students stay with us for May and June and a high number of Intensive English Program (IEP) students stay with us for the remaining months.

Projects
In 2014 the U of M installed their Wi-Fi infrastructure in the residence. Students now have the option of using the wireless internet or the dedicated connection in their residence room. Students are much happier now that St. John’s Residence has an internet solution that fits their needs. We assessed our common areas and moved the furniture (as well as their pool table) around to better utilize the space. An unused room was turned into an office that the student staff can share with the residence council. This space will be used for all of administrative work the dons need to do for checkins/checkouts as well as storage. It can also be used for meetings with students so that they are held in a private environment.

There was some fine tuning to each of the residence rooms over the year as students moved out during the summer and December to do some “painting touch ups”. This was an opportunity to remove the obsolete phone wires that were in the rooms.

Community
We had a large contract with IEP over the summer months and we were full in August. The IEP program reduced the number of rooms they normally contract with us by nearly half for the 2014-2015 school year. We were still able to fill our rooms with regular students and there was a great group of students who moved into our residence in September. We are hopeful that with a higher number of regular students in residence we will have a high number of them return next year.

3. Academic Staff

A. Visiting Fellows.

Bruce Erickson.
Bruce Erickson holds a PhD from York University (2009) and is a newly appointed Assistant Professor in the Department of Environment and Geography. Before joining our institution, Dr. Erickson was an Assistant Professor in Geography at York University for three years, and held a Postdoctoral Fellowship in History at Nipissing University from 2008-2010. His research is in the area of cultural geographies of nature and his publications include Canoe Nation: Nature, Race and the Making of a Canadian Icon from the University of British Columbia Press (2013), and another work, co-edited with Catrina Mortimer-Sandilands, Queer Ecologies: Sex, Nature, Politics, Desire from the University of Indiana Press (2010). In addition, Bruce has written ten refereed articles and chapters, which include titles such as “Grey Owl and the Whiteness of Surrogacy,” “Explorations of Whiteness and Identity in Rock Climbing,” and “Colonial Climbs of Mt. Trudeau.” He also has a long list of conference papers and invited presentations on various aspects of cultural geography, gender, race and nature to his credit.

Lori Wilkinson
Lori Wilkinson is a Professor in the Department of Sociology and was an Associate Dean in the Faculty of Arts from 2011 to 2014. Dr. Wilkinson is the current Editor of The Journal of International Migration and Integration and the former Acting Editor of the Journal of Canadian Ethnic Studies. In addition, she is the Director of Immigration Research West, a consortium of 15 universities, over two dozen (and counting) professors, four umbrella community service providers (representing over 400 community organizations in Canada) and all three levels of government. The purpose of Immigration Research West is to study the settlement experiences of immigrants in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia, Yukon, Northwest Territories and Nunavut, to collect and disseminate research on successful integration and to assist community organizations in the development of programs helping newcomers find work, healthcare, language instruction and settlement.
B. Research Fellows

Krista Barclay
Krista Barclay is currently a Doctoral Candidate in the Department of History at the University of Manitoba, working under the supervision of Dr. Adele Perry. Ms. Barclay has a solid background in History with both a B.A. (Hons) and an M.A. Degree in History from Wilfrid Laurier University. Her publications include “Slaves in a Savage Land? The Curious Case of Orcadians in the Hudson’s Bay Company,” which is forthcoming from the New Orkney Antiquarian Journal and a second article on “Slaves in a Savage Land? Orcadians in the Hudson’s Bay Company, 1727 – 1870” published in 2011. Krista has been involved in coordinating Museum Exhibitions on “Tradition and Innovation: The Importance of Agriculture to Markham 1820 – 1920,” and “A Walk Down Main Street Markham in 1910,” which involved an interactive touch screen kiosk for the 700 square foot gallery exhibition. In addition, Ms. Barclay has presented at numerous conferences and has a long list of awards to her credit, including Manitoba Graduate Scholarships and the SSHRC Joseph-Armand Bombardier Canada Graduate Scholarship.

Stephanie Pyne
Stephanie Pyne holds a PhD in Geography (2013) from Carleton University and has been awarded a SSHRC Postdoctoral Research Fellowship to work under the supervision of Senior Fellow, Greg Bak, from the History Department. Dr. Pyne’s project will expand the Residential Schools Map in the Lake Huron Treaty Atlas (an aspect of her doctoral thesis research) into an Atlas of its own, with a variety of interactive maps that are responsive to and reflective of the many dimensions of the ongoing Residential Schools reconciliation processes. This postdoctoral research project intersects well with Greg Bak’s work on Indigenous and critical approaches to archives and database creation and management. It will greatly enhance the project’s capabilities in terms of implementing a pilot geospatial database of residential schools records.

Joseph Wiebe (Research Fellow, July 1 – December 31, 2014)
Joseph Wiebe holds a PhD in Religion (2013) from McMaster University and has been now awarded the D.F. Plett Postdoctoral Fellowship to develop a comparative research project on Mennonite and Metis land cultures in 1870-1925. This research compares two land cultures, analyzing the ways Mennonites and Metis relationships to the land shaped their religious identities within decidedly different legal contexts. It compares and contextualizes Metis-Mennonite relations, investigating how they are interlinked with land issues – land claims, immigration, settlement and displacement. The project assesses three interrelated topics: (i) the context of settlement and displacement; (ii) the question of land culture; and (iii) the process of confederacy. Although we were sad to see Joseph leave the College, we congratulate him on his new position at the University of Alberta, Augustana.
C. Junior Fellow

Jade Weimer
Jade Weimer is our new Junior Fellow. Jade is currently finishing her dissertation for the PhD program in religious studies through the University of Toronto, and teaching courses in the Department of Religion at the University of Manitoba. Her work focuses on early Christian social history and liturgical practice, with a specific emphasis on music in the religious traditions of Greco-Roman antiquity.

D. Retired Fellows

We have re-organized some of our space to create a Retired Fellows’ Reading Room in room 315. This space has comfortable chairs for reading, conversation and small meetings, and a coat rack for Fellows who come on an occasional basis to place their belongings. The room across the hall, 314, remains a shared work space for some of our Retired Fellows.

4. Academic Programs

Undergraduate Courses

Once again, we are seeing a shift in emphasis on how the University of Manitoba approaches undergraduate education. Many faculties have moved to direct entry (from high school) and fewer students are taking advantage of the broad approach offered by University 1. University 1 itself is moving towards a heavier focus on student support especially in retention and advising. Where does St John’s College fit in this new reality?
The Robert B. Schultz Lecture Theatre at St John’s College allows us to provide enough courses within the College that our students can do their entire first year programs “at home”. Not only can we offer courses in the more traditional Arts and Science fields, but we now offer courses from the Faculties of Environment, Architecture and Kinesiology and Recreation Management. With the additional resource of our older 100-seat lecture theatre (Room 118) we can also offer courses from the Music faculty. We continue to build the connection between Fellows and students by seeking to ensure that the Fellows teach within the College where possible.

Centre for Canadian Studies

In the 1970 agreement between the University and the Colleges, St John’s was to select an area of emphasis in its academic programme: the College chose Canadian Studies. Since then, as far as possible, the College has sought to elect Fellows with an interest in the area. Of the current College Fellows, 21 have maintained an active presence in the area, as evidenced by their participation in conferences and publications, a partial list of which was included previously in this report.

As the 1970 agreement is currently interpreted, the College cannot on its own teach Canadian Studies: the undergraduate program must be housed and coordinated through a Faculty of the University. Canadian Studies is therefore a program of the Faculty of Arts. The Coordinator of the Canadian Studies Program is College Fellow Prof. Barry Ferguson (History and Duff Roblin Chair). Dr. Ferguson has sponsored guest lectures and a rountable each term as part of his work in Canadian Studies.

The College continues to use its Canadian Studies endowments to promote special guest lectures and seminars, support the research of College Fellows as well as the annual Marjorie Ward Lecture.

The College has developed an extensive art collection, primarily though donations from the artists. In this past year the College Fellows purchased three Alex Colville prints and three Pangnirtung Inuit prints to add to the collection. There continues to be a lively effort to put more of the collection on public display. The primary commitment is to collect contemporary Manitoba, Prairie Region, and Aboriginal art as well as works of quality from the Canadian historic period. The art collection at St John’s College is a visible collection, hung in offices, classrooms, and public areas. Most of the works in the College have been permanently installed.

The library holdings of the College have a focus on Canadian literature, history and politics in both English and French. The major collection of French-Canadian literature at the University of Manitoba is centered at St John’s College.
5. Faculty of Theology

The Faculty of Theology remains suspended awaiting the report of the Theological Education Commission. St John’s College continues to advance theological education in the Diocese of Rupert’s Land:

1) Two University-level courses were offered through St Margaret’s Church, accredited by Wycliffe College and supported by St John’s College. In the Winter Term we offered “Systematic Theology 1: The God of the Gospel” and in the Fall Term “Great Twentieth Century Texts of the Church: Its Mission and Splendour”. Each of these courses included public lectures for any person in the Diocese to attend. Enrolment has been steady at about 20 students (for credit and auditing) while about 60 people consistently attend the public lectures.

2) The Wilmot Lectures in Theology were held in March. This year we initiated a series of interfaith dialogues with partners from the Interfaith Roundtable. One of the sessions was held at the local Hindu Temple.

3) The College partnered with the Centre for Christian Studies to offer an intensive course, Engaging Difference: Deepening Understanding for Intercultural Ministry in June.

4) In the Fall of 2014, the Bible and Breakfast series was restarted in collaboration with St Peter’s Church. Rev. Dr. Lisa Wray Beal offered a study of the Pentateuch.

The College will continue to advance each of these projects and look for further opportunities to engage parishes in theological education.

In the Fall of 2013, College Council along with Diocesan Council established a Commission on Theological Education to examine future directions for theology in the Diocese. The Commission continued its work over the year including a meeting with the Fellows in the Fall. The Commission members consist of Ms. Kirsten Pinto-Froerer (convenor), the Rev. Jamie Howison, the Rev. Dr. Cathy Campbell, the Rev. Allison Chubb and Dr. Paul Dyck and Ms. Susie Fisher.

March 6, 2014 The 30th Annual Marjorie Ward Lecture: Jake MacDonald, “The University of the Open Road.”

Our 30th Annual Marjorie Ward Lecture was a complete success. The award-winning travel and nature writer, Jake MacDonald, gave a lively and engaging lecture on “The University of the Open Road,” on Thursday, March 6th to an audience of approximately fifty-five people. College Fellows and invited guests joined Jake before the lecture for a gourmet dinner in the Senior Common Room and audience members were invited to a post-lecture reception in the Galleria. The food at both events was superb and we thank Ian Park and his staff from Food Services for doing such a fine job. Many other people worked behind the scenes to make the evening a success and we thank Amy Craddock, Jackie Markstrom, Jill Stafford and Elnora Wiebe for their efforts. In particular, Diana DeFoort should be recognized for her organizational skills and attention to detail. She helped to keep the whole project moving forward. Finally, thank you to all who were able to attend the Lecture.

March 20, 2014. Bach’s Birthday was celebrated in the Chapel of St John the Evangelist with local musicians performing compositions by Johann Sebastian Bach. The concert was followed by a reception.

Celebrating Research
This year we organized two opportunities for Fellows to showcase their recent research, and share their work with College members, students, and the public. The first of these was a reception co-sponsored by the St John’s College Library and the University of Manitoba Press at the end of October. This was followed later in November by a book table display of recent publications by our Fellows during Convocation in early November.

Matriculation

New members of the College are welcomed at our annual Matriculation ceremony, receive a College pin and sign the College membership book, which dates back to 1866. The ceremony was held on September 21, 2014.

Convocation

The 148th Annual Convocation was held on November 2, 2014 in the College Chapel of St John the Evangelist. The Warden, Dr Christopher Trott, opened the proceedings. Justice Thomas Berger, QC, OC, OBC was given the degree of Doctor of Canon Law (honoris causa) in absentia, and the Vernerable Douglas Fenton was given the degree of Doctor of Divinity (honoris causa). Dr. Lloyd Guth presented the Convocation address on behalf of Justice Berger.

One-hundred and seventy-two College members were acknowledged as graduates of the University of Manitoba.

The afternoon Convocation was preceded by the Commemoration of Founders and Benefactors chapel service and the Friends of St John’s College Luncheon. At the luncheon, Wilson Wu gave the “What St John's College means to me” speech. Wilson graduated with a Bachelor of Commerce (Honours) in 2014.

7. Chapel

2014 has been a full year, as the Chaplain continues to discern what kind of chaplaincy is most needed at St. John’s right now. The following programs and events have gone on throughout the year:

- Monthly Eucharist
- Weekly midday prayer
- Weekly meditation group
- Pints & Compline at a downtown pub (now finished)
- A few events with international students (skating, Lunar New Year, Folklorama)
- A short course completed on suicide prevention
- Student support and pastoral counselling, particularly with those in crisis
- A meditative choral service on Palm Sunday, “Journey into Holy Week” (quite well-attended; excellent feedback)
- Plans and studies for a labyrinth on the grounds; hopefully to be completed summer 2016
- A September retreat to camp Arnes with SJCSA for leadership development
- Beginning in September, monthly residence programming (including information & support bulletin boards, prevention & support information in all washrooms, and three speakers on safe-sex, mental health, and alcohol awareness- all were poorly attended, if at all)
- A new partnership with Russell & Associates Counselling, which provides a student counsellor one day a week for SJC students (her schedule began to fill in mid-October)
- A November retreat to St. Charles Retreat Centre, joint with St. Paul’s College
- A new relationship with a volunteer Muslim chaplain, using my office
- Founder’s Day Service in November, prior to convocation
- A New Year’s gathering with SJCSA, for ongoing support and relationship-building
- A workshop completed on restorative justice approaches to conflict; increasingly important, particularly in residence

The Chaplain’s conclusion at this point in the 2-3 year interim position is that chaplaincy as it stands is not really viable at St. John’s. Some significant changes in the position will be necessary if it is to create a space of curiosity, safety, and spiritual flourishing on campus. Neither staff nor fellows attend services, and getting students to come out to events is very difficult. Chaplaincy continues to be seen as a religious appendage to the college rather than an integral piece of college life. More years of intentional presence and relationship-building are needed before a communal life of students can really begin (such as an evening dinner liturgy).

The Chaplain is addressing these challenges by continuing to build relationships with individual students, which is going well. She is working with them on events, such as a concert and volunteering days. In addition, she will begin this year to work at better connecting with and welcoming our large population of African students, particularly Nigerians. The majority of the College’s Christian students are African and new ways of supporting their spiritual needs must be found, as the traditional chapel services are alienating for them. Many of them struggle to trust the Chaplain, as a woman and as a Canadian. If the opportunity ever arises, an African chaplain might be a great fit for St. John’s.

In addition, the Chaplain will soon be meeting with former chaplains and other interested parties to discuss their ideas for the future direction of chaplaincy at the college. She expects that for chaplaincy to become sustainable and vibrant again, it will need to shift from being a part time Anglican for St. John’s only toward a full-time Protestant for the wider university (situated at St. John’s). Currently on campus, there are many options for Roman Catholics and evangelicals, but very little support for Protestant students. In particular, there are no theologically progressive

It would still be very helpful to have an office closer to the galleria and lecture halls, but the Chaplain also finds that the privacy of her office location is something students value. Residence students in particular have a challenge finding privacy and appreciate the quiet corner of my office. Part of the challenge with developing a spiritual community among the residents is that, because they live together, they are hesitant to be open and vulnerable with one another.

Working with the student leadership is an ongoing process. The Dean of Residence and the Chaplain are getting into a much better sync with their leadership in the residence, as they work with the dons and co-heads to plan bulletin boards, educational events, and student support. The dons are still getting used to having me around and the Dean of Residence and the Chaplain are still sorting out what roles each of us should play, but it’s generally going well. The biggest challenge right now is getting the residence leaders to get on board with the programming.

The fall retreats both went very well in terms of attendance and feedback and the Chaplain intends to hold both again next year.
During summer 2015 the Chaplain won’t have the same amount of prep work as she had this year, so she is considering applying for further chaplaincy training at Victoria Hospital.

8. College Facilities

There were some renovation projects this year as we continue our efforts to renew the College facilities. Highlights include:

Chapel
- The Cloister received a new roof, and drainage was fixed. This will help alleviate heaving and cracking in both the floor and walls of some lower level spaces

Daily Bread Café Hallway
- Once again, the tunnel connecting the college to the academic wing was repainted, making it a much more inviting area.

Residence
- General painting, and some improvements to the student common areas, including a new pool table.

9. Food Services
St John’s College Food Services values the importance of sharing in a meal or refreshment, breaking bread. This coming together, over food and drink, is important in sustaining something that defines us, community, whether this takes place in the residence, the Daily Bread Cafe, espresso 101, the Senior Common Room or at a catered event. Our food services reinforce this underlying value by offering reasonably priced, professionally presented, wholesome and varied menu choices.

The variety of foods available at espresso 101 improved significantly with the addition of fresh baked pizzas. This has not only provided what has become for many a dietary staple, it also fills the college with the delicious aroma of freshly made pizza.

Our environmental footprint is something that has impacted our business model for some time. We now have a program in place that addresses waste from our take out containers.

The Tiffin project

In September 2014 our Food Services Manager, Ian Park, worked with a Professor Kelley Main and her class from the Asper Business program. The Marketing class heard a lecture from both Ian Hall the university's Director of Sustainability and I. Ian Hall spoke about the challenges of managing waste on campus. Ian Park spoke about how the Daily Bread Cafe is promoting the Tiffin as a way to reduce the waste generated from styrofoam take-out containers. Based on that lecture, the group assignment was to develop a marketing plan for the Tiffin and the college's food service in general.

These projects highlighted many strengths, as well as many areas for growth.

Our Food Services Manager is happy that the overall strength was on the quality and variety of the College’s offerings as well as the helpful attitude shown by our staff.

Something that came up as an opportunity for growth is that our food services are not well known on campus.

Ian Park is now working with The University's Marketing Communications Office and in particular Lenore Hume the Web & New Media Coordinator learning about Social Media, and how it can be used to grow our client base.

After 1200 online orders, The Daily Bread online catering menu is being updated. Partially due to a new cold beverage contract with Coke, the need for price and product adjustments, as well as more advanced software abilities.

Food Services hopes to roll the new menu out very soon.
Fiscally, Food Services continues to meet our budgetary guidelines. Revenues are strong, and although the costs of goods, services and utilities are up, we work hard to get the most for our dollars.

Our Bomber pregame program is somewhat successful. I maintain that our record is better than that of the football team, which sadly doesn't say much.

Our challenges are many and we have a great team and a commitment to do better.

10. Financial Overview

The 2013-2014 fiscal year ended with the following results:

Total revenues – $2,571,297
Total expenses – $2,505,336

Other Operations now has an accumulated surplus of $58,979, while Theology has an accumulated debt of (132,858). At the current schedule, the Theology deficit will be eliminated in approximately 4 years.
Total assets at year end increased to $6,908,428 from the previous year of $6,412,473. Once again we had a very successful summer conference season, a full residence, and strong revenues in Food Services (Daily Bread Café, Catering, etc.). These are the key revenue streams that allow us to meet our budget and provide a high level of service to students.

11. Development

The Development Office will inspire Johnians to participate in promoting and funding the College. Through an integrated programme of communication and engagement the College will be promoted as a safe, caring, small yet vibrant community.

Over the past year the Development Office has engaged in activities that support the above statement.

Alumni/donor engagement: In 2014 the Warden and Development Officer travelled to Toronto, Kingston, Ottawa, and Vancouver. The Development officer continued to visit with donors and managed to meet with a couple of Johnians whilst on vacation in England and Gurnsey. In total 60 Johnians were visited by the Warden and the Development Officer.

Scholarships/Bursaries: One scholarship was started in the 2014 year: The O’Greysik Scholarship which received matching MSBI funds. The McDowall Bursary was set up with bequest funding (see below).
Bequests: A bequest from Geraldine (Mildred) McDowall of $12,648.30 was received and used to set up a Bursary. Mildred had moved to England in the 1940s. Her family visited the College in the summer and decided to add to her bequest. The Terry McDowall Bursary will be awarded to a student in the Humanities.

Communications: One issue of the College Newsletter, In Lumine, was mailed to over 3,500 alumni and friends of the College.

Events: A new event was introduced to College alumni and friends in 2014. The Lunch and Lively Conversation was held in February and September. Dr. Christopher Trott, Warden & Vice-Chancellor gave the first Lunch and Lively Conversation on his experiences in the north and Dr. Frances Carroll, retired Fellow, presented on the sinking of the passenger ship Athenia.

The total funds raised for the year are $160,478.75 which breaks down as follows:-

A special “thank you” to the Staff of St John’s College who have helped us in our endeavours over the past year, and to our Volunteer Yana Temkin and our Work-Study Student Janviere Muvunandinda.

We truly could not have done this without you all!
