Environment Field Investigations, Fall 2017
ENVR 3010 or ENVR 3020

Instructor: Rick Baydack (Rick.Baydack@umanitoba.ca) 255 Wallace 474-6776
Classes: Workshops generally off-campus with dates/times to be determined

A. Goals:

Environmental Field Investigations is a 3 or 1.5 credit hour field course in the Department of Environment and Geography that will be offered over the Fall 2017 term. The intent is to provide students with an understanding of, observational experience with, and adaptive management opportunities for, a wide range of field-oriented topics related to the environment and its management. The course will draw upon the expertise of various environmental specialists from government agencies, the private sector, and non-government organizations.

B. Objectives:

Upon completion of this course, students will be able to:

1. Understand and participate in the design and delivery of field investigations for various environmental issues.
2. Assess and summarize perspectives about various environmental field activities (6 or 3, depending on course in which student is enrolled) using an adaptive management approach.
3. Present a detailed description and adaptive strategies for an environmental field activity of particular interest to you.

C. Course Content:

The course will consist of visits to a number of 'field' activities in which students will take an active role in observing, examining, and assessing various approaches and strategies being used to investigate environmental parameters and issues. The schedule for these field activities will be dependant upon the availability of personnel from cooperating agencies and interest from students, and additional details or cancellations of activities will be updated throughout the term. Students should therefore become familiar with the UM Learn website (<https://universityofmanitoba.desire2learn.com>) in order to determine the most up-to-date information on activities. Sign-up for each activity is to be provided by email to the Instructor, with a minimum of 3 days advance notice of attendance. In addition, note that each activity in the course outline has a website to which students are directed for additional information and in some cases, for personal registration, especially if the activity is organized by a non-University agency. Students are encouraged to try to attend as many activities as possible that do not conflict with their other academic and personal commitments (note that attendance at any activity is optional, but that at least 6 activities must be attended for the 3 ch courses, 3 for the 1.5 ch course). In addition, students are encouraged to locate and/or plan and attend other field-related environmental activities, and email the Instructor with details. Students should provide notice of their transportation requirements and/or details of their personal vehicle availability to/from various activities outside of the City of Winnipeg. For any on-campus or public events off campus (e.g. Fort Whyte, Nature Manitoba, Oak Hammock, etc.), students are able to register, and then simply attend and participate in the activity. You will not receive confirmation of your registration in such a case. However, for field-related events where there are logistical considerations (e.g., transportation, meals, accommodations), students who have registered will receive details roughly three days prior to the event. Therefore do not be alarmed if you have registered for an event, and have not received any feedback. You will receive information in due course. Note that some events may require a registration fee that students are responsible for paying.

The course will emphasize observational experience with various environmental field investigations generally in a field workshop format, although some activities will be seminar or conference-based. Note that for any activity involving live animals, students are required to be observers only. Students will learn how to consider possible alternative management approaches by using an ‘adaptive assessment process.’ Discussion on the adaptive assessment process will take place in the first class, and also will be available as a video that is on Reserve and can be viewed in the Science and Technology Library in Machray Hall. In particular, students are required to determine if (more effective) alternative strategies might be applied to the various field situations under study, and also to explain why the current approach is likely used. Students are expected to locate background literature and/or web-based sources of information for each field investigation that will be summarized in their report. Students will be evaluated through participation, reports, and an oral presentation.

Note that electronic submission of all reports and Powerpoints for the oral presentation should be done using the UM Learn site, and are due by December 11, 2017

The organizational meeting of the class will be held on Monday September 11 at 400 pm in 217 Wallace. If students are unable to attend, the Instructor should be contacted.

Academic Supports

Writing and Learning Support: The Academic Learning Centre (ALC) offers services that may be helpful to you throughout your academic program. Through the ALC, you can meet with a learning specialist to discuss concerns such as time management, learning strategies, and test-taking strategies. The ALC also offers peer supported study groups called Supplemental Instruction (SI) for certain courses that students have typically found difficult. In these study groups, students have opportunities to ask questions, compare notes, discuss content, solve practice problems, and develop new study strategies in a group-learning format.

You can also meet one-to-one with a writing tutor who can give you feedback at any stage of the writing process, whether you are just beginning to work on a written assignment or already have a draft. If you are interested in meeting with a writing tutor, reserve your appointment two to three days in advance of the time you would like to meet. Also, plan to meet with a writing tutor a few days before your paper is due so that you have time to work with the tutor's feedback.

These Academic Learning Centre services are free for U of M students. For more information, please visit the Academic Learning Centre website at: <http://umanitoba.ca/student/academiclearning/>

You can also contact the Academic Learning Centre by calling 204-480-1481 or by visiting 201 Tier Building.

University of Manitoba Libraries (UML) - As the primary contact for all research needs, your liaison librarian (if they weren't recently fired by Central Administration) can play a vital role when completing academic papers and assignments. Liaisons can answer questions about managing citations, or locating appropriate resources, and will address any other concerns you may have, regarding the research process. Liaisons can be contacted by email or phone, and are also available to meet with you in-person. A complete list of liaison librarians can be found by subject: <http://bit.ly/WcEbA1> or name: <http://bit.ly/1tJ0bB4>.

In addition, general library assistance is provided in person at 19 University Libraries, located on both the Fort Garry and Bannatyne campuses, as well as in many Winnipeg hospitals. For a listing of all libraries, please consult the following: <http://bit.ly/1sXe6RA>.
