Curriculum/Course changes			February 7, 2022	May 4, 2022	May 18, 2022

Note:

- All changes with resource implications must be considered by the Senate Planning and Priorities Committee (SPPC). Faculties/Colleges/Schools should provide a separate submission for SPPC.

Resource Implications include: (i) additions/deletions of courses in a department with a net increase of more than nine credit hours, submission to SPPC should include how this will be addressed; (ii) if a course is offered jointly with other faculty(s) what are the resource implications.
- Proposals for course deletions or modifications (including changes to pre- or corequisites) that would impact other courses/programs, including courses/programs in other units, should, ideally, be brought forward for the Fall deadline. Academic units initiating such changes are required to advise other affected units of the proposed change(s), including an indication of the term the change would take effect, so other units have an opportunity to submit corresponding changes to the SCCCC for the same Fall deadline, ideally, or the next ensuing Spring deadline. The Registrar's Office can assist units in identifying other courses/programs affected by a proposed course modification/deletion where an academic unit does not have this information.
- The submission of new undergraduate programs and articulation agreements with or without additional funding will be considered on an on-going basis by SCCCC and SPPC. In the fall, the Committee's focus is on course changes, therefore, new programs might not be dealt with as quickly as at other times of the year.
