- St. Paul's College Students' Association consists of student members who are elected annually by the College's students. Its purpose is to organize and promote events and special initiatives, and to represent students' interests (academic, spiritual, and social). SPCSA relies on the active involvement and interest of the students.
- Arthur V. Mauro Institute for Peace and Justice is dedicated to the advancement of human rights, conflict resolution, global citizenship, peace, and social justice through research, education, and outreach. The Institute is home to over 80 students enrolled in Master's and PhD programs in Peace and Conflict Studies. The Institute hosts the annual Winnipeg International Storytelling Festival.
- Belltower Café is a 180-seat cafeteria located in the lower level of St. Paul's College that has been serving students, faculty, and staff of St. Paul's College and the University of Manitoba for several decades. They feature daily house-made specials, as well as an extensive menu of breakfast and lunch items.

- Fr. Harold Drake, SJ Library supports the teaching and research needs of St. Paul's College students and faculty. The library's collections and services are open to all U of M Libraries patrons; its attractive and comfortable study areas provide a good learning environment.
- Jesuit Centre for Catholic Studies is a teaching and research centre. In conjunction with the Faculty of Arts, it operates the largest Catholic Studies program in Canada and with class enrollments exceeding 400 students annually. The Centre promotes scholarly understandings of the Catholic Church, including research in fields relating to the culture and history of Catholicism, the Jesuits, and contemporary religious issues. It prides itself on being academically rigorous, student-focused, and closely connected to the Catholic community in Winnipeg.

The facility is also an administrative location for faculty and students, and offers seminars and lectures related to Near Eastern and Biblical Studies.

It is home to the local Canadian Catholic Students' Association. Open to everyone, its programs and events include spiritual development, community outreach and service learning.
