

Department of Anthropology

Application for Student Research Position

Student Research Assistantships are derived from departmentally administered funds and are designed to provide graduate students with research experience and faculty with research support during any regular session of The University of Manitoba.

The Department may designate a maximum of six (6) Student Research Assistantships per year of $3,000 each, depending on the availability of funds.

MA or PhD students will be selected for assignments based upon following criteria:

1. The match between student research skills and those requested in Faculty applications for assistance.
2. Priority will be given to students who do not hold Major Awards.
3. Priority will be given to students who have completed, or have completed the majority of, required course work.
