COURSE GOALS

The goals of this course are to provide students with an examination of organization as an influence and resource in their lives and an introductory level examination of the theory and practice of organization and reorganization: origin, development, modification, reform and termination of organization. Social organization is regarded as the major source of social ills (like tainted blood, mining fatalities, child poverty) and benefits (like the anti-personnel mines treaty, an anti-apartheid regime in South Africa, human rights legislation) . At the same time, organization and reorganization are seen as the major corrective for social ills and the enhancement of social benefits. Instruction will focus on asking questions, problem solving, research and communication skills for the above topics.

Student Responsibility and Academic Integrity

If a test is missed for a legitimate medical reason the student must get in touch with the professor, present their medical certificate, and arrange for a make-up test. Under normal circumstances, the student is required to inform the professor of their request for a make-up test within one week of the original test date. Failure to request a make-up test within the expected time frame may result in ineligibility for a make-up test and a mark of zero for that test.

Cheating is a serious offense with grave consequences. Students should acquaint themselves with the University's policy on academic ethics, i.e., cheating (see the University of Manitoba Undergraduate Calendar).

Disruptions due to excessive talking or early departures from the classroom are especially distracting to large classes. Please be considerate and respectful of the needs and rights of others in the class. Students should be aware that persistent disruption may result in disbarment from the course. Any student who has a legitimate reason for leaving class early should inform the instructor at the beginning of class.

Last day for Voluntary Withdrawal from course: November 15

The following numerical scores are used for averaging letter grades: A+=87, A=82, B+=77, B=72, C+=67, C=62, D=55. Grades are averaged upward if the score is less than .5 away from the next category. For example, a score of 79.50 would be graded as B+; a score of 79.51 would be graded as A.
